

THE HATE THAT DOESN'T KILL OR HATE DESTRUCTION IN THE TRANSFERENCE- COUNTER-TRANSFERENCE

Rezumat: To think, to elaborate beforehand, to psychoanalyse, to metamorphosize hate and its different forms of manifestation (destructive and non-destructive; jealousy, envy, violence, etc.) in diverse pathologies: borderline, psycho-somatic disorders, psychopathies. This article is a theoretical approach and a thorough reflection about hate and destruction in therapy, especially in transference - counter-transference relation: to think, to feel, to experience together with the patient what it can hardly be thought, said, imagined. The article focuses on the technique and modality to deal with hate during the analytical process so that both the analyst and the analysand should survive, in the winnicottian sense of the term, till the end of their analytic itinerary.

Cuvinte cheie: counter-transference, borderline, destruction, hate, deathful narcissism, negative therapeutic relationship.
